11h00 – 11h45	Panel Discussion: Future of Work Reinvented In a post pandemic digital world, Enterprises are intentionally reinventing the way work is done. Rethinking workplace strategies is not simple. One thing is clear though, to ensure their future success, organisations must adopt a human centric approach that adds value to both the employee and the organisation and address the new reality. However, current virtualised remote work is exhausting employees, and the All-Return-to-Site option will affect performance, engagement and productivity. So, what can organisations do to reinvent work and what needs to be done in order to ensure success?
